

A small twist

👁 19 ✓ 3 ★ 3

Chapter 1 by ELizabeth

When she saw him time slowed to a stop. He was so perfect and she knew her life would never be the same because she'd found him. The one. The first boy she would ever kill.

Chapter 2 by Luke Meyers

It was as easy as Mother had told her it would be. His eyes were hungry for peeks of her flesh, as she spun about the dance floor presenting her every soft angle. He was stupid with liquor, and followed her like a dog from the club to the street above.

Chapter 3 by intellikat

Describing the murder would be crass; you've heard and seen such things so many times before in television shows, films, comic books, video games, pulp paperbacks from your older brother's bookshelf. It was done in the back of an alley, and swiftly so. The only thing that made this murder different than so many others was the fact that the girl now busied herself with bringing him BACK TO LIFE again.

Her hands clutched at something that looked like a gnarled root, which she pushed as far back as possible into his open mouth. She clutched at his wrist and then pressed a vial which deposited a dark liquid into each of his glazed-over eyes. This being done, she spoke something in a low tone and awaited his turning.

See more of Story Wars

Login

or

Create new account

Continue the story

☐ Flag as mature ☐ receive feedback

Submit draft

Write a comment...

About

Rooms

Feedback

See more of Story Wars

Login

or

Create new account